Welcome to Dream wanderlust

We believe in life and embrace each and every moment that life throws at us. We are a bunch of nature lovers who venture out on each opportunity available to explore the wisdom of nature: To explore the orchids in the high mountains, criss-cross the dangerously narrow steeps and gorges where a wrong footfall can take you to the realms of darkness, to capture the ever increasing altitudes where the most breathe taking views of the world is juxtaposed by the ever decreasing oxygen level, to be enchanted by the ice-cap mountains where the sun kisses the horizon to reflect into plethora of colours, to enjoy the trill of camping in the dark forests where your only neighbours are wild animals- all these enthral us.

This site has been explicitly designed for those who are summoned by beauty of their own planet and who want to fall in. Whenever you feel the disjunction of life or want a break from it to be you, or want an escape from the time bound present nine-to-nine existence and the limitations it impose- all you want is Dream Wanderlust – The Freedom. All we wish is to have some rendezvous with nature, to feel the fresh air and endless sky, the deep forest and the wild, capture the vibrant colours through photography, to trek and wander along.

So here is a call to all nature lovers and adventurers to join us. If you think that you are excited in the same way whenever you hear the word "trekking" or get dreams of being in the high mountains while reading above, this is the perfect place for you.
